In the startup of new process plants or in the introduction of new process technology, even minor installation work can cause plant downtime. On the other hand, the increased income from compressing time schedules for the introduction of new process technology or launching of associated new products on the market surely offers an incentive for securing efficient startups, which is the purpose ...

Thermal Equilibrium: the point at which, in the system (as in two bonded human molecules), no heat [Q] moves from one body or region to the other. Specifically, a state in which the energy distribution of the system equals a Maxwell-Boltzmann distribution. This allows a single temperature to be attributed to the system.

In atomic theory and quantum mechanics, an atomic orbital is a mathematical function that describes the wave-like behavior of either one electron or a pair of electrons in an atom. This function can be used to calculate the probability of finding any electron of an atom in any specific region around the atom's nucleus. The term atomic orbital may also refer to the physical region or space where ...
